From the Events, events providing limited functionality (Events Without Organizer's Registration) and events providing full functionality (Pro Event) may be created, furthermore, there is also the possibility to create an event having specific functionality based on a specific offer. Parties shall determine the requirements, functions, and the way how they shall account for with each other with respect to the event to be established by the specific offer, in the offer accepted by the other party or in a separate agreement to which the provisions of this GTC shall be governing unless otherwise provided for by the accepted offer or the separate agreement.

3.1. The contract is concluded between the Parties by the registration of the Visitor on the Website. Following the creation of the visitor's account on the Website, it is possible to register for any event, nonetheless, the participation in the event may also occur based on invitation, in this case, the person invited to the event is not even obligated to create a visitor's account. Creating a visitor's account shall occur as follows. Should the Organizer assign the policies, statements, and information (eg.: GTC, data privacy statement) applied by it to the specific Event, then the Visitor may be informed thereof on this site, with the assistance of the arrow located above the link “SENDING OF THE ORDER”. In this case, finalizing the registration may only be carried out by the acceptance of the data privacy statement.
